Message for the International Committee of Sports for the Deaf
For its 1924-2014 Year Handbook

Congratulations to the International Committee of Sports for the Deaf (ICSD) on its 90th anniversary.

What a long way it has come since its creation in August 1924 in Paris (France) and the organisation of the First International Silent Games. Today, the ICSD has more than 100 affiliated nation members. Recognised by the International Olympic Committee in 1955, the ICSD is today a valued member of the Olympic family, which encourages the practice of sport and promotes its values worldwide, particularly among the younger generations.

Through its main events, the Summer and Winter Deaflympics, the ICSD shows that it does not matter if you are deaf; you can easily put aside your differences and run, jump, play, ski or skate just like any other athlete.

One can only marvel at the tenacity and enthusiasm of these athletes, as some of them have even participated in the Olympic Games, achieving great results and winning medals, thus contributing to the universality of sport.

This book chronicles the facts and the figures of the ICSD's history from that day in August 1924, when the organisation took its first steps, to the most recent Deaflympics editions, thereby underlining the important place which deaf sport now occupies within the sports community.

May I wish the International Committee of Sports for the Deaf every success in writing new chapters of its history, to the benefit of athletes and sport alike.

Preface by the President of the International Committee of Sports for the Deaf
Dr. Valery Rukhledev

Before you is the Review, which is dedicated to this year's 90th Anniversary of the founding of the Deaflympics and the International Committee of Sports of the Deaf (the ICSD) and which were formerly known as the International Silent Games and CISS, respectively.

On August 10th in 1924 the First International Silent Games were inaugurated in Paris, France. On August 16, leaders from eleven countries met and established a new organization called the CISS. In 2001 the CISS received official recognition from the IOC for the new name of our Games — the Deaflympics.

Ninety years ago in Paris Deaf athletes from only nine countries competed while now the ICSD unites 108 member-countries. Once in four years the Deaflympics were held and since 1949 the Winter Games have been organized every four years. The ICSD is very famous and respected internationally and it cooperates with the IOC.

Similar reviews which included data on Deaf sports were published in different years; the first edition was in 1934 and the last one in 2001. So we consider this issue of the Review a very important step.

We are proud to note that this Review marks several «firsts». That is, unlike previous issues, for instance, on its pages first names and surnames of the Summer and Winter Deaflympics medal winners as well first names and surnames of the medal winners in all team sports.

While this book has many different chapters, it also has chapters which list the achievements of many outstanding Deaf athletes and distinguished leaders.

The compiler Rafael Pinkhasov Pinchas is to be commended for his perseverance in researching and compiling this voluminous Review.

A Snapshot of the ICSD

The Deaflympics (initially, it was called the International Silent Games or Jeux Internationaux Silencieux, in French) was inaugurated in 1924 in Paris, France, and is being governed by the International Committee of Sports for the Deaf (ICSD), which is the oldest disabled sports organization and second oldest multi-sport organization next to the regular Olympics. The ICSD was previously known by the French acronym of the CISS (or Comité International des Sports des Silencieux).

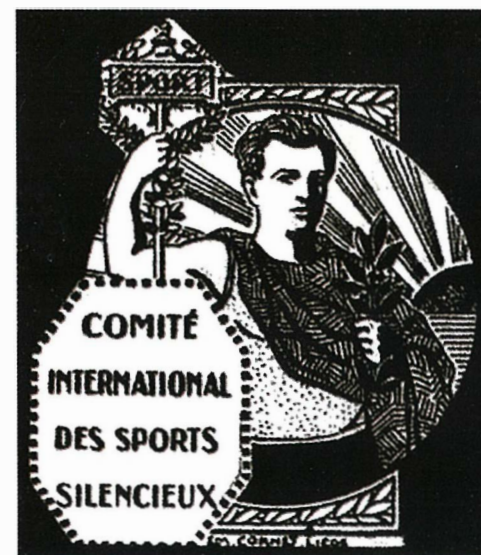

The main objects of ICSD are to develop and promote sport training and supervise competitions, which are organized and managed by international, national, and regional sports federations for the Deaf.

The need for separate Games exclusively for athletes, who cannot hear and / or speak, is not just evident in the numbers of participants. Deaf athletes are distinguished from all others in their special communication needs on the sports field as well as in the social interaction, which is an equally vital part of the Games.

The ICSD oversees the organization of the Summer and Winter Deaflympics, which are patterned after the Olympic Games. These Games are held alternatively at 2 year intervals for competitors, who have at least 55 dB hearing loss in the better ear. To date, the ICSD has already organized 39 such Games — 22 for the Summer Games and 17 for the Winter Games between 1924 and 2013.

Additionally, during the non-Deaflympics years, the ICSD organizes World Championships in different sports.

Since its establishment the ICSD has striven to follow the Olympic ideal and has received recognition from the International Olympic Committee (IOC). In 1955, the ICSD was proclaimed an International Federation with Olympic Standing by the IOC and in 1966 it was awarded the Olympic Cup for its meritorious services to sports for the Deaf. In 2001, the IOC granted the name change of the ICSD's quadrennial Games event to the Deaflympics.

EMBLEMS AND FLAGS OF THE CISS/ICSD AND DEAFLYMPICS

This CISS flag emblem was designed by Mr. Fernand Chante. For the first time the flag with its blue and green color was showcased at the Opening Ceremony of the 5th International Silent Games held in Stockholm, Sweden, in 1939. By a decision of the 39th ICSD Congress held in 2005 the flag and logo have ceased to exist. By the way, Mr. Chante was born in 1886 in France and represented his country as a shooter at the four Games in 1924, 1931, 1939 and 1949 (at the Games in 1939 he won a total of three gold medals). In 1955 he awarded a special title of the CISS Honorary Life Member.

In 1989 the CISS launched a new logo drawing contest worldwide, in which the winner was Mr. Aharon Aini of Israel. By the way, Mr. Aini was the President of the National Association of the Deaf in his country.

Mr. Ralph Fernandez (born in 1964), is a well-known graphic designer from the USA; he was the one to create and design this emblem in 2003. The emblem is a positive and powerful symbol of the close-knit international deaf sports community. It ties together strong elements: Sign language, Deaf and International cultures, Unity and Continuity. The hand shapes, «Ok», «Good», and «Great» that overlap each other in a circle, represent the original sign for «Deaflympics». Together, the hand shapes represent the sign for «United». The center of the emblem or a logo represents the iris of the eye, which defines Deaf people as visual people; they must use their eyes to communicate. The emblem displays four different colors — red, blue, yellow and green, which symbolize the four Deaf Regional Sports Organizations — the Asia Pacific Deaf Sports Confederation, the European Deaf Sports Organization, the Pan American Deaf Sports Organization and the Confederation of African Deaf Sports. By the way, Mr. Fernandez was the silver and bronze medalist in the 1000 m Individual Sprint and Team Time Trial events at the 15th World Summer Games for the Deaf in 1985; currently he is the ICSD Technical Director in Cycling.

Major Milestones in the History of the ICSD

1924 — On August 10th the First International Silent Games were inaugurated at the Pershing Stadium in Paris, France. On August 16, leaders from eleven countries — all from Europe — met and established a new organization called the CISS.

1926 — The Statutes of the CISS were adopted at its first Congress held at Brussels, Belgium.

1935 — Japan joined the CISS as the first Asian member and the United States joined the CISS as a first North American member.

1939 — 264 athletes from 13 countries participated and Swedish Prince Gustav-Adolf became the first royal representative to attend the Games held in Stockholm, Sweden.

1949 — The First Winter Games were held at Seefeld, Austria.

1955 — The International Olympic Committee (IOC) recognized the CISS as «an International Federation with Olympic Standing». Australia and New Zealand joined the CISS as the first Nation-Members from the region of Oceania.

1957 — Argentina, Chile, and Uruguay joined the CISS as the first South American members.

1961 — The CISS had 27 Nation-Members.

1965 — The International Silent Games were held outside of Europe for the first time, in Washington, D. C., USA.

1966 — The CISS was awarded the Olympic Cup by the IOC for its services to sports.

1967 — The International Silent Games were renamed as the World Games for the Deaf to recognize their world-wide nature.

1974 — 50th anniversary celebrations took place at Paris, France. The CISS Museum opened in Rome, Italy.

1975 — South Africa joined the CISS as the first African member.

1981 — The World Games held in Cologne, Germany were for the first time attended by an IOC President, Mr. Juan Antonio Samaranch. English was adopted as a sole language of correspondence, although the title Comite International des Sports des Sourds was retained in remembrance of the organization's origin. Doping tests were introduced at the Games.

1985 — Recognition of the Regional Confederations.

1988–1993 — The CISS abandoned its attempts towards the incorporation of the World Games into the Paralympics. In recognition of unique communication requirements of Deaf athletes, prohibitive costs of providing translators, the inability to accommodate the growing numbers of Deaf competitors and for a number of other reasons, the CISS withdrew from the International Paralympic Committee, but retained the IOC's recognition and support.

1999 — The CISS celebrated its 75th anniversary.

2001 — The CISS received official recognition from the IOC for the new name of our Games — the Deaflympics.

2002 — The CISS became a member of the SportAccord (known as the GAISF).

2005 — The first ever female President of the CISS was elected.

2006 — The name change from the CISS to the ICSD took place; the ICSD in compliance with WADA Signatory Code.

2013 — The ICSD had 108 Nation-Members.

The Cooperation Agreement between The World Federation of the Deaf (WFD) and ICSD was signed.

2014 — Dr. Valery Rukhledev became the first ever deaf person to participate on the IOC Commission.

The Two Giants of the ICSD

They were the early pioneers of the international Deaf sports movement — Monsieur Eugène Rubens-Alcais of France (on the left) and Monsieur Antoine Dresse of Belgium (on the right).

Monsieur Eugène Rubens-Alcais (1884–1963) was an auto mechanic by profession and competitive cyclist who came to be known as the Deaf version of Monsieur Baron Pierre de Coubertin, the father of the modern Olympics. Monsieur Rubens-Alcais developed his vision of the International Games for the Deaf, patterned on the modern Olympics, as he led the Paris Sports Club for Deaf Mutes and founded the French Deaf Mute Sports Federation (now the French Deaf Sports Federation, FSSF). He promoted the idea in his Deaf sports magazine, The Silent Sportsman. A brilliant man of modest habits who lived in a sparsely furnished and simple attic apartment, a mansard, while he passionately pursued his vision, Monsieur Rubens-Alcais gave all his time and what he had in working for Deaf people and Deaf sports. He led his growing Deaf sports movement as the President of the CISS from its founding in 1924 until 1953. He died on March 8, 1963.

Monsieur Antoine Dresse (1902–1998) came from a family of bankers and industrialists in Liege, Belgium. He followed his family tradition and rose to the top of a brokerage firm. He was also a runner and a tennis player and shared the vision of Monsieur Rubens-Alcais. Together, the two men worked tirelessly to realize their dream. Monsieur Dresse became the founding Secretary-General of the CISS. He held this post for 43 years until he retired in 1967. For more than a half a century he was a driving force behind the Deaf sports community in Belgium as well. He won a bronze medal in the 400 meters at the 1928 Games and a total of eight medals in tennis in 1928, 1931, 1935 and 1939. He died in 1998.

The traditions created by the founders were strengthened over the years by men and women who shared the passion for sports competition and for the establishment of a sense of identity within the world-wide Deaf community. The members of this exclusive group of outstanding leaders share a background of lifelong commitment and leadership in their national as well as international Deaf sports organizations.

Opening Ceremony of the first International Silent Games, Paris, 1924

COMMENTS AND ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Ninety years ago in 1924 the ICSD was established in Paris, France. Initially known as Comité International des Sports des Silencieux, the organization was formed after several years of persuasive lobbying tactics and skillful networking by the two Deaf men Eugene Rubens-Alcais and Antoine Dresse. Eventually and quite admirably, these two men were able to gather 21 Deaf sports leaders from 11 European countries all of whom, at their first meeting held on the historic day of August 16, 1924, wholeheartedly and unanimously supported the idea of creating the ICSD.

Since then the ICSD has enjoyed continuous growth by attracting more nation-members and more influence.

It has, however, encountered a number of difficulties and problems, especially in the last several years.

For instance, the recent and very sudden cancellations of the three Deaflympics in a row — Winter Games planned for Slovakia for the year of 2011 and Canada for the year of 2015 and Summer Games scheduled for Greece for the year of 2013 — were the lowlights in the long and glorious history of the ICSD.

In spite of these setbacks, the ICSD is still standing strong.

Moreover, history teaches us to learn from our past and to be inspired by the great examples of our predecessors as Deaf sport leaders. We celebrate anniversaries to remember how far we can go when keeping faith with what we love and staying true to our principles.

The very basis of the ICSD and Deaflympics ignores our handicap, political views, nationality, sex or age; we are all united in our common passion for sports. I believe with all my heart that by keeping this ideal in mind and by coming together as one close-knit Deaf sports-loving family, we shall be able to set and achieve the most ambitious goals.

CISS
